Report

The Department of Pharmacology at KLE College of Pharmacy, Belagavi, successfully organized a guest lecture on the topic "Regulatory Challenges and Strategies for Herbal Formulation Research and Product Development" on March 13, 2024 at seminar Hall,KLE college of Pharmacy,Belagavi. The event was conducted online and witnessed an enthusiastic participation of nearly 50 attendees, including Postgraduate students, PhD scholars, Heads of Departments, senior professors, and colleagues from various departments.

The session commenced with a warm welcome address by Prof. Dr. N. A. Khatib, for the Participants and Resource Person for the event. Mr. Prakash R Biradar, Associate Professor, introduced the esteemed resource person, Dr. Mahibub Mahamadas Kanakal, providing a brief overview of his expertise and relevance to the topic.

Dr. Kanakal, being alumni, expressing his gratitude for the opportunity to the institute, emphasized the growing popularity of herbal formulations attributed to their perceived natural and holistic approach to health and wellness. However, he shed light on the complex regulatory landscape surrounding herbal products, which varies significantly across different regions. He outlined five key regulatory challenges:

Lack of Standardization

Safety Concerns

Limited Scientific Evidence

Labeling and Marketing Regulations

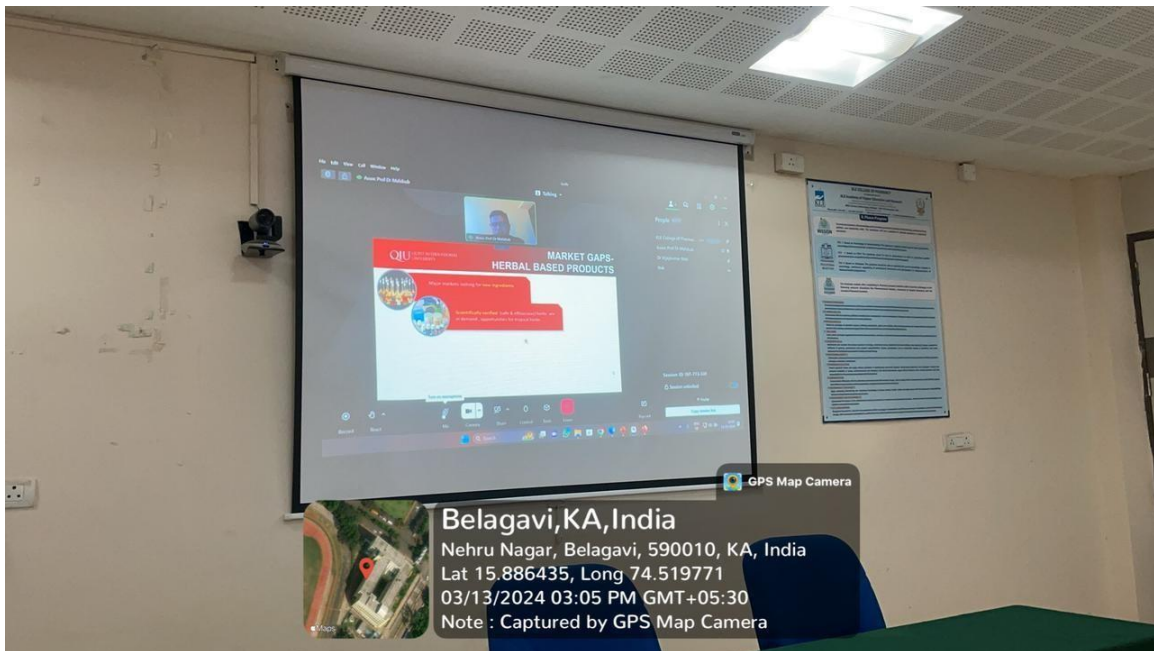

Registration and Approval Processes

Furthermore, Dr. Kanakal addressed strategies to tackle these regulatory challenges effectively. He highlighted the importance of conducting robust research, standardization, quality control, and fostering collaboration and partnerships to navigate the intricate regulatory requirements in the product development process. By proactively addressing these challenges and ensuring compliance with regulations, researchers and developers can successfully bring herbal products to market while upholding consumer safety and confidence.

The lecture concluded with an engaging interactive session where participants and professors had the opportunity to pose queries and engage in discussions with the speaker, further enriching their understanding of the topic. Prof. (Dr.) N. A. Khatib, HOD of the Department of Pharmacology, extended a vote of thanks to Dr. Kanakal for his insightful session, appreciating his valuable contributions to the field. In summary, the guest lecture provided attendees with valuable insights into the regulatory challenges associated with herbal formulation research and product development, as well as practical strategies to overcome these challenges and ensure the quality and compliance of herbal products.
